A Medical Home Network Affiliate

Dear Provider,

Evolent has partnered with Availity®, an independent company, to operate and service our electronic data interchange (EDI) transactions. This transition will take place between October – December of this year and should be seamless to you unless you currently log in to submit your claims transactions.

Comparable portal services will be available on the Availity Essentials Portal starting in December. More details will follow in subsequent communications from us or our Availity partners.

For any Provider using a clearinghouse or vendor to submit transactions to Evolent today - Evolent and Availity are working with your trading partner to update connections. There is no action needed by you at this time.

Evolent's portal claim submitters:

- Evolent will migrate direct data entry claim submissions to Availity in December.
